GOOD YEAR'S BUSINESS

Rappahannock Farmers' Exchange in Flourishing Condition, as Shown at Annual Meeting—Officers Elected.

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., February

19.—At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Rappahannock Exchange recently held at the home office at Moratree, on the Rappahannock River, in Lancaster County, every county in the original territory was represented, including Westmoreland, Richmond, Northumberland, Lancaster, Essex and Middlesex. The capital of $100,000 in stock, a $50,000 business has been transacted by the clearinghouse located in Baltimore for the first year. The past six months indicate that this business will amount to between $500,000 and $600,000 by June next, which will be the end of the second year. Merchants, oyster dealers, farmers and other shippers testified to the great good the exchange has accomplished for the Northern Neck and the south side of the Rappahannock River. The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and the stockholders elected the following directors: J. Carson Phillips, R. Goldie Neale, Easby, Dr. A. B. Evans, Rev. E. L. Ayler, Middlesex; T. W. Headly, W.
